Meet Ceci Moses and Rick Schimmel, parents to Jude and Shoni.

"Off the Rez" portrays the life of the Schimmels and the adversity Native youth face while living on a reservation. It also depicts the lives of Jude and Shoni who become the two most recognized names by Native youth across the country. The film begins with Jude and Shoni Schimmel playing high school basketball, then playing for the University of Louisville; then onto the WNBA for Shoni, who was the MVP of the 2014 All-Star game. Jude has a career as an author and conducts basketball camps for Native youth.
